New Christian Science Publishing House

BOSTON, Mass.—Continued growth of the activities of the Christian Science Publishing Society has necessitated expanded facilities.

The new building, which will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000,000, will occupy approximately 58,000 square feet of ground bounded by Massachusetts Avenue, Norway, Falmouth and Clearway Streets, Back Bay.

Operations are to be hastened in accord with the public and private building program which Mayor James M. Curley of Boston has been urging in conjunction with President Hoover's recommendations for relief of unemployment.

The structure will have a varying height. The Massachusetts Avenue end of the building, which will be used for offices, will be nine stories in height, while that part which is opposite The Mother Church, in Boston, Massachusetts, will be five stories in height.

The publishing building will be related in architectural style to The Mother Church, and its design has been influenced by the fact that in the future it probably will become one of a group of buildings which will surround and form a fitting architectural setting for the church. It will be an all-stone building of the Italian Renaissance type, the lower story to be of granite and the upper stories of limestone.

Driver of Death Car Gets Hearing May 21

Admitted Drinking Witnesses who testified at the inquest stated that Fortin showed evidence of having been drinking as his driving up and backing down Lomita drive, a blind street near Narbonne and a point 200 feet south of Pine street—where the boy was found—was very erratic.

The bicycle became entangled with Fortin's front bumper and he did not stop to remove it until after he had traveled approximately 500 feet from where the body of the boy was found, witnesses stated.

In a statement to police here and deputy sheriffs in Los Angeles, Fortin, who lives with his mother and father, declared that he did not know he struck anyone, but thought he had hit a telephone pole. He admitted, investigators reported, that he had been drinking.

Jury Recommends Trial A discrepancy of one hour in the story told by Fortin at the time of his questioning here early Monday morning and later in Los Angeles is regarded as highly important to the prosecution. After told authorities that he drove to Redondo and attended a theater, Mike Stuckler testified that his younger brother, who was in the ninth year class at Narbonne, was on his way to his sister's house to take a bath when he was struck, presumably from the rear by the automobile. The autopsy report showed that he had died about 8 p. m. Saturday of a basal fracture of the skull, concussion and subdural hemorrhage. The coroner's jury brought in a verdict that the boy came to his death as a result of being struck by a car driven by Fortin, and recommended that he be held for trial in a criminal court in connection with the death. Deputy District Attorney A. S. Colgrove assisted at the inquest. The Mucklow family was represented by Lloyd Nix, former city prosecutor of Los Angeles.

"ALL-TALKING" EQUIPMENT

An air view of trucks of Southern California Telephone Company coming in from Los Angeles Harbor with 19 reels of cables, carrying 1240 miles of wire weighing 31 tons. The cable is now in service, carrying voices between Los Angeles and Long Beach underground.

Heavy telephone traffic between Los Angeles and the Harbor District is now moving with high speed and reliability through the new 21-mile underground cable route, recently completed at an expenditure of more than $372,500, from the Mutual building, 433 South Olive street, to Long Beach, according to Fred W. Smith, district manager of the Southern California Telephone Company.

The new facilities for inter-city communication were provided after engineers of the telephone company found that the increasing amount of long distance usage between the two points would soon tax the capacity of the two existing routes, via Compton avenue and Vermont avenue.

Memorial Day Services Will Be Presented

Lieutenant-Governor Frank E. Merriam will be the principal speaker at the Memorial Day services to be held at Roosevelt Memorial Park Saturday, May 30, at 2 p. m. The American Legion posts of Torrance, Gardena and Compton are sponsoring the observance.

Mayors of seven surrounding cities will be present at this service to assist in honoring the men and women who have given their lives to their country. A program of musical numbers is being arranged.

The Torrance post's drum and bugle corps will take part in the Long Beach Memorial Day observance in the morning. Local ex-service men and the Legion Auxiliary will be honored guests and will present the program at the Torrance Men's Bible class session in the Torrance theater Sunday, May 24. Judge Daley S. Stafford will be the speaker.

Street cleaners report that cigar butts aren't nearly so short as during 1930. Occasionally you see an automobile spare tire rack with a spare tire attached. It is now safer to leave the children's banks around the house. There are fewer roadsters on the road with the glass out of the headlights.

People are saying, "Won't you stay to dinner?" as if they really meant it. More men are getting their hair cut regularly. You can drop a penny in a crowded street without causing a major panic. Butchers have ceased swooning when a customer asks for a porter house steak. There has been a noticeable decline in the number of people shopping around before they buy razor blades.

Temporary Night Ball Field Will Be Created Here

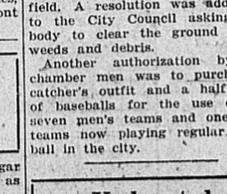

Ground on Cabrillo to Be Used; Lights to Become City Park Property

A temporary illuminated baseball field will become a community center during the summer months on Cabrillo avenue across from the grounds. The Chamber of Commerce directors voted Monday afternoon to purchase and install special lighting equipment on the ground for the use of night baseball teams at the request of Raymond Burdick and Ed Hansky.

When the proposed municipal park is authorized by the people at the bond election June 9, this lighting equipment is to be moved and permanently installed at the baseball diamond in the park. Buy Ball Equipment During the discussion of the temporary field, the various managers of the teams were reported to have agreed to undertake the responsibility for the lease. It is understood that the owner of the property will lease the field for the cost of the taxes. The chamber directors pointed out that neither they nor the city could lease the field. A resolution was addressed to the City Council asking that body to clear the ground of all weeds and debris.

Another authorization by the chamber men was to purchase a catcher's outfit and a half gross of baseballs for the use of the seven men's teams and one girls' team now playing regular hardball in the city.

ELLA YOUNG, 60-year-old Irish poetess, at last has won her fight to enter the United States. Many months ago Miss Young was ordered by Seattle immigration officials to return to Victoria, B. C., and there to obtain a visa on a passport. For weeks the visa was withheld, while the aged poetess endeavored to support herself and show that she would not become a public charge if permitted to enter the United States. Today, having convinced authorities of her ability, she is en route to California to make her home. She is author of several books of verse.
